"THE ORANGE REVOLUTION"

(106 min, Steve York, 2007)

"The broad scope of the film and the brilliant way it is shot and put together, makes it almost a thriller where truth is stranger-- and more exciting -- than fiction.

... Besides being an exciting historical documentation of a very recent series of events, "THE ORANGE REVOLUTION" will resonate strongly with the American electorate which sat in front of their TV sets helplessly as Mr. Bush stole the American presidential election in 2000!"

FRIDAY JANUARY 30, 2009, 7-9:30 PM

FILM: "GARBAGE WARRIOR" (86 min, Oliver Hodge, 2008)

Imagine a home that heats itself, that provides its own water, that grows its own food. Imagine that it needs no expensive technology, that it recycles its own waste, that it has its own power source. And now imagine that it can be built anywhere, by anyone, out of the things society throws away. Thirty years ago, architect Michael Reynolds imagined just such a home - then set out to build it. A visionary in the classic American mode, Reynolds has been fighting ever since to bring his concept to the public. He believes that in an age of ecological instability and impending natural disaster, his buildings can - and will - change the way we live. Shot over three years in the USA, India and Mexico, Garbage Warrior is a feature-length documentary film telling the epic story of maverick architect Michael Reynolds, his crew of renegade house builders from New Mexico, and their fight to introduce radically different ways of living. A snapshot of contemporary geo-politics and an inspirational tale of triumph over bureaucracy, GARBAGE WARRIOR is above all an intimate portrait of an extraordinary individual and his dream of changing the world.

FILM: "RAGEH INSIDE IRAN" (89 minutes Paul Sapin 2007) With NEGIN ALMASSI and RAMINA DEHKHODA-STEELE

Rageh Omaar embarks on a unique journey inside what he describes as one of the most misunderstood countries in the world, looking at the country through the eyes of people rarely heard - ordinary Iranians. It took a year to get permission to film inside the country. Rageh meets with local people to hear their personal stories and feeling. This documentary transcends images of angry demonstrations and burning flags to reveal a country that isn't without its problems but which is also fascinating, dynamic and hospitable. Join us for a Q & A following the film with Negin Almassi and Ramina Dehkhoda-Steele from the Iranian American Community Alliance (IACA) of Seattle <http://iaca-seattle.org/>

FRIDAY FEBRUARY 20, 2009, 7-9:30 PM

FILM: "SEEING RED" (100 minutes, Jim Kline & Julia Reichert, 1984)

An informed look at the individuals who made up the American Communist Party from the 1930s through the '50s. Fighting for the causes of unionization, unemployment and Social Security benefits, and the eight-hour day, they committed themselves to what they believed was the right way for America. Not just a rosy remembrance, Seeing Red looks critically at the party's connection with the Soviet Union and its lack of internal democracy. An invaluable resource for courses in political science, political sociology, and social movements.

(Event is FREE and open to the public! ...but Donations are kindly accepted).

FRIDAY FEBRUARY 27, 2009, 7-9:30 PM

FILM: "CONSUME THIS MOVIE" (80 min, Gene Brockhoff, 2008) With CECILE ANDREWS

Are Americans too materialistic? Are we willfully trashing the planetary ecology in order to serve the desires and drives of the ego? And what, or who could be driving this powerful force of seduction? Americans are finally beginning to challenge our culture of greed and materialism. CONSUME THIS MOVIE stars Cecile Andrews, Juliet Schor, Peter Whybrow and others; and takes a critical look at social injustice, peak oil, resource depletion and our deep need to feel connected to each other through what we choose to consume. Join us for this brand new film and discussion with Cecile Andrews, author of Slow is Beautiful and Circle of Simplicity. www.cecileandrews.com, www.phinneyecovillage.org
