FRIDAY MARCH 13, 2009, 7-9:30 PM

Film: "TRACES OF THE TRADE: A STORY FROM THE DEEP NORTH"

(86 min, Katrina Browne & Alla Kovgan, 2008), WITH ELLY HALE, A MEMBER OF THE DEWOLF FAMILY.

In TRACES OF THE TRADE, Producer/Director Katrina Browne tells the story of her forefathers, the largest slave-trading family in U.S. history. Given the myth that the South is solely responsible for slavery, viewers will be surprised to learn that Browne's ancestors were Northerners. The film follows Browne and nine fellow family members on a remarkable journey which brings them face-to-face with the history and legacy of New England's hidden enterprise. The issues the DeWolf descendants are confronted with dramatize questions that apply to the nation as a whole: What, concretely, is the legacy of slavery—for diverse whites, for diverse blacks, for diverse others? Who owes who what for the sins of the fathers of this country? What history do we inherit as individuals and as citizens? How does Northern complicity change the equation? What would repair—spiritual and material—really look like and what would it take? "A far-reaching personal documentary examination of the slave trade ... The implications of the film are devastating."—Stephen Holden, The New York Times.

FRIDAY MARCH 20, 2009, 7-9:30 PM

Film: "FLOW: FOR THE LOVE OF WATER" (93min, Irena Salina, 2008) WITH CAROLYN AUWAERTER, A LOCAL ACTIVIST FROM THE THINK OUTSIDE THE BOTTLE CAMPAIGN.

Irena Salina's award-winning documentary investigation into what experts label the most important political and environmental issue of the 21st Century: The World Water Crisis. Salina builds a case against the growing privatization of the world's dwindling fresh water supply with an unflinching focus on politics, pollution, human rights, and the emergence of a domineering world water cartel.

Interviews with scientists and activists intelligently reveal the rapidly building crisis, at both the global and human scale, and the film introduces many of the governmental and corporate culprits behind the water grab, while begging the question "Can anyone really own water?" Beyond identifying the problem, FLOW also gives viewers a look at the people and institutions providing practical solutions to the water crisis and those developing new technologies, which are fast becoming blueprints for a successful global and economic turnaround.

Film: "THE NUCLEAR COMEBACK" (58 min, Justin Pemberton, 2007)

IS NUCLEAR ENERGY THE ANSWER? WITH WASHINGTON PHYSICIANS FOR SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY (WPSR)

In a world living in fear of climate change, the nuclear industry is now proposing itself as a solution. It claims that nuclear power generation produces zero carbon emissions... and people are listening. The result is the beginning of a global nuclear renaissance, with 27 nuclear power stations under construction, and another 136 to be commenced within the next decade. THE NUCLEAR COMEBACK poses the question: Is this the answer to our energy needs? Or by seriously considering the renewed development of nuclear power, may we now be gambling with the survival of our planet?

The new documentary THE NUCLEAR COMEBACK goes on a worldwide tour of the nuclear industry in search of answers. Presented is a balanced array of viewpoints and information which allows the viewer to draw their own conclusion. Please join us following the film in a facilitated discussion with Washington Physicians for Social Responsibility (www.wpsr.org).

FRIDAY APRIL 3, 2009, 7-9:30 PM

Film: "CONSUMING KIDS: THE COMMERCIALIZATION OF CHILDHOOD"

(67 min, Adriana Barbaro & Jeremy Earp, 2008)

CONSUMING KIDS throws desperately needed light on the practices of a relentless multi-billion dollar marketing machine that now sells kids and their parents everything from junk food and violent video games to bogus educational products and the family car. Drawing on the insights of health care professionals, children's advocates, and industry insiders, the film focuses on the explosive growth of child marketing in the wake of deregulation, showing how youth marketers have used the latest advances in psychology, anthropology, and neuroscience to transform American children into one of the most powerful and profitable consumer demographics in the world. CONSUMING KIDS pushes back against the wholesale commercialization of childhood, raising urgent questions about the ethics of children's marketing and its impact on the health and well-being of kids. (Event is FREE and open to the public! ...but Donations are kindly accepted).
