

PRINCIPLES FOR MEANINGFUL MOVIES:

The Meaningful Movies Project is a non-profit, all-volunteer group that actively encourages and supports individuals, communities and organizations in their efforts to organize, educate, advocate and build community around the power of social justice documentary film and community conversation.

We assist film/discussion groups (new & existing) that are based in these principles and the following.

- Offer a venue that is free and open to the public so anyone can attend without stigmas;
- Provide an opportunity for participatory community discussion with every film event;
- Secure appropriate permissions for film and other copyrighted media;
- Provide a supportive environment where opinions can be discussed openly in a safe way;
- Operate in a respectful and non-violent manner;
- Mutually support a broad coalition of other groups doing aligned social justice work and who also agree to these principles;
- Help actively support and expand the concept and name “Meaningful Movies” to the benefit of all our members and our communities;
- Operate as volunteer-organized, and not for personal profit, and;
- Remain autonomous and independently accountable.

We are available to assist in any way we can to help other communities start successfully operate their own Meaningful Movies Groups.

Feel free to contact us at: info@meaningfulmovies.org.

We are committed to helping groups succeed based in principles of peace, social justice and benefit to the community.
